THE WOLF AND THE LAMB

The Wolf, meeting with a Lamb astray from the fold, decided not to kill him at once, but to explain him the wolves' right to eat lambs.

"Oh, Lamb, last year you insulted me greatly", he said.

"Oh, no, sir", bleated the Lamb in a mournful tone of voice, "I was not then born".

Then said the Wolf: "You feed in my pasture".

"No, good sir", replied the Lamb, "I have not tasted grass yet".

Again said the Wolf: "You drink of my well".

"No", exclaimed the Lamb, "I have not drunk water, for as yet my mother's milk is both food and drink to me".

And the Wolf seized him and ate him up, saying: "Well, I won't remain without supper".

The tyrant will always find a pretext for his tyranny.
